The new awnings are the same in color as before. You will also notice two Gazing Globes, instead of having in the front flowers. I now have evergreens in the front; at cement walk are the red barberries, and right back are evergreens about 4 1/2 feet high, about six of these on either side. On this light post at each end are colored flowers; the building is now painted yellow with trimmings in black; the sign at the end of the porch, Shankweiler is black with gold letters. I wish you would bring this out very plain; at the left of building you see the white dogs, with white flowers above the dogs, these flowers should be colored different, because they are the same as the dogs; the fire escape is yellow; notice the door, which is mahogany with small bevelled glass, and right above the door, a nice little roof, slanting roof, showing the green tile very nicely. You notice a nice blue spruce tree between the awnings, all the other trees are green. The rockers on the porch are yellow on natural wood color, and I wish you could trim the awning post for me; they are black at the top of awning; they are like a heavy point which is orange and green and halfway down you notice a white spot, that is also red and green.
